

RELIGION SPRING 2010

EXPLORE THE NEW RELIGION MINOR!

<http://www.uscupstate.edu/religion>

Prepare yourself for life in the 21st century – take a course in Religion!

Why is religion such an important – and controversial – part of modern life around the world? What do Americans – who live in the most religiously diverse society on earth – need to know about each other’s religious ideas, values and beliefs? What roles does religion play in 21st century life, in issues from stem cell research to the “war on terror,” from the teaching of evolution in schools to the “right to die,” from politics and genocide to gender and peace-making? How is religion important to history, social studies and other disciplines?

The Department of History, Political Science, Philosophy, & American Studies (HPPA) offers courses to introduce the impartial, systematic study of religion and to help explore how religious ideas, values and attitudes affect the world today. Look for Comparative Religion and Asian Religious Traditions (TTH) in the catalog and explore the special topics courses for this spring: Christian Controversies (MWF), God and the Holocaust (TTH), Judaism, Culture & Civilization (TTH), Psychology of Religion (TTH) and Religion, Health and Healing (MW). No prerequisites are required!
