UNIVERSITY OF South Carolina
JOB DESCRIPTION

Job Purpose:
The Vice Chancellor for Information Technology is responsible for planning, budgeting and managing all institutional information systems, networks and operations. This includes the campus network, telecommunications, instructional technology services, administrative computing support and user support. This senior level cabinet officer is expected to guide the institution decision making and policy implementation in all aspects of information systems and technology, together with management data collection and application.