Part B: Please read the following information then check the correct answer in the box below.

In order for you to claim a person as your dependent for financial aid purposes, you must provide more than half the dependent's support. You cannot count support provided by your parents. If you and your dependent(s) live with your parent(s) and your parent(s) are paying most of the household expenses, your parent is considered the primary source of your dependent's support and you must check the 'NO' box below unless you can demonstrate that you provide more than half the dependent's support even while living at home with your parent(s).

Support provided by you (the student) includes: ♦Your income from work ♦Your savings and investments ♦Your social security benefits ♦Your worker's compensation ♦Your financial aid (including loans) ♦Support you receive from anyone other than your parents ♦Your welfare benefits ♦AFDC ♦Child support ♦TANF ♦WIC	Support provided by others includes: ♦Money you receive directly from your parents ♦Indirect support you receive from your parents including housing, food, clothing, medical care, child care, etc.
You must check one or form will be returned: <input type="checkbox"/> YES I will provide more support for the dependents listed in Part A above than they will receive themselves or from my parents for the period July 1, 2021 through June 30, 2022. <input type="checkbox"/> NO I will not provide more support for the dependents listed in Part A above than they will receive themselves or from my parents for the period July 1, 2021 through June 30, 2022.

Part C: All students must sign and return this form. Attach a signed copy of your tax return if required in Part A.

By signing this document, I certify that all the information reported on it is complete and correct. If I purposely give false or misleading information on this document, it will be cause for denial or repayment of financial aid and I may also be fined, sentenced to jail, or both.
